Having received several very important improvements viz.:—

Morrison's wonderful little Engine, for cleaning and excavating decayed teeth, preparatory to filling, which does the work with such rapidity and beautiful exactness, that in a very few seconds an otherwise sensitive tooth is prepared for the Gold in a manner unattainable by the disagreeable method of scraping and burning, so well known by those who have experienced the operation.

Also Green's Electric Engine, which took the grand Diploma of Honor at the Vienna Exhibition. The feat of harnessing lightning is fairly done in this neat, efficient, and truly wonderful little machine. By this we manipulate the gold into the most difficult or frail tooth, with the most exquisite exactness, and without danger of fracturing the most delicate enamel. Then, with the same engine, we finish and polish the filling in less than one quarter the time formerly required, and without pain. No patient who has had teeth filled in this manner once, will ever willingly consent to the use of excavators or burr again.

We have also received an immense quantity of the most beautifully carved Artificial Teeth comprising thousands of different shades and forms, from which with our long practical experience we can match any style or feature, complexion, or expression, with such artistic incense that detection is impossible.

The Plate we use for the atmospheric pressure is the Whalebone Rubber, the lightest and strongest known.

We have been using Nitrous Oxide Gas for the painless Extraction of Teeth for nearly fourteen years, and have administered over 20,000 Times,

2,140 times in this City alone, since August 1872,

And recommend it as the safest anesthetic known. It is nothing new, as it has been tested by thousands of Dentists, and hundreds of thousands of people.

Persons from the Camp and neighboring Towns, can have their Sets of Teeth made in time to return same day, by making an appointment before hand,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

WONDERFUL CURES OF CONSUMPTION.—The late dissections performed in the hospitals of Paris, prove beyond doubt that the tubercles of the lungs can be permanently healed, thereby curing consumption. The cases, in point, were those of persons who had, in years gone by suffered from lung diseases, but who recovered and died afterwards from other causes. The official reports read thus. 'That said persons were cured by the constant use of pure cod liver oil.' The great difficulty seems to be to obtain the genuine article. Therefore it is of paramount importance that the patient should be sure of using the Lanman and Kemp Cod Liver Oil, and none other, since there are numberless imitations sold to the public, entirely worthless. The best way to take the Oil is to mix one spoonfull of it, with two of the Pectoral of Anacahuita.

PRESIDENT AVELLANEDA.

As the elections are now over it may be allowed an impartial spectator to offer some remarks on the struggle, and pass in review the prospects of the country under the coming administration.

No presidential election has ever before brought into such active play the political forces of the people, and although the excitement has been intense throughout the 14 Provinces of the Republic it has not been attended with more bloodshed than we are accustomed to hear of in an emeute in one of the provinces or a hotly disputed municipal election. Let us hope that, as the battle is over, the combatants of yesterday will shake hands and allow the business of the State to be as quietly resumed as in England after the recent victory of Mr. Disraeli over Mr. Gladstone.

Dr. Nicolas Avellaneda seems to be returned by a sufficient majority to ensure his accession to office without recurrence to Congress, whose decision is only necessary when the highest candidate does not command 51 per cent of the total number of electors, in other words 116 out of 230 votes. Being a native of Tucuman, and having won most of the upper provinces to his side, he may be considered to represent the Interior. Some years ago this would have signified the party of conservatism, prejudice, and envy of Buenos Ayres; but since the reconstitution of the Republic, after Pavon, the ideas of progress and enlightenment have so penetrated every province, however remote, that the nation has been welded into a compact mass and is no longer a city and 13 'ranchos.' During the last 12 years, under the Mitre and Sarmiento administrations, the provinces have at least had their fair share of the sunshine that is diffused by liberal expenditure of the national revenues, and schools, railways, free libraries, roads, bridges &c. have been scattered with a lavish hand from the Arroyo del Medio to the Andes and the confines of Bolivia. The provincials have begun to learn that their alliance with B. Ayres is most profitable, and that the influence they hold in the national councils is worth more than the glory of a revolution or the achievements of a 'caudillo.'

Doctor Avellaneda ascends the chair of the Chief Magistracy not only with the strong sympathies of the upper provinces, but with the valuable experience and good reputation he has acquired in 10 years of ministerial life in Buenos Ayres. He is, moreover, one of the most successful men of our time, and probably the youngest President that has ever been elected in this or any other Republic. His father was Governor of Tucuman and perished among other good men in the civil wars, leaving his family in straitened circumstances. Shortly after leaving the schools of Cordoba young Avellaneda came to B. Ayres, entered the office of the late eminent lawyer Roque Perez, and at the same time embarked in the career of letters as editor of the Nacional. His talents soon secured for him a professor's chair in the University; his name was further favorably known as author of a work on Public Lands, advocating a more liberal system than hitherto in vogue. His subsequent services, as Minister for the Province and afterwards Minister of Instruction in Pres. Sarmiento's Cabinet, are too well-known to need recital. He is at present under 40 years of age, and connected by marriage with the best families of our city.

As a youth he was an attentive student, and many a leisure hour he passed with the old authors of Greece and Rome under the classic shade of the 'alameda' of Sobremonte at Cordoba. He is also well-read in the best of our English literature; and although most of our countrymen inclined to the candidature of General Mitre they entertained that respect for Dr. Avellaneda which his talents and services entitle him to.

General Mitre, in all the recent contest, possessed the warm but unexpressed support of the foreign community, because he has been regarded as the re-constructor of the Republic after Pavon, and because of his successful mission in 1872 to Brazil. If he had been chosen President we should have gladly saluted him as an old friend and distinguished statesman, although our position as neutral prevented us during the contest from betraying any preference in a question which Argentine are entitled to consider as exclusively their own.

As Gen. Mitre has been defeated we only fulfil our duty by assuring Dr. Avellaneda that he may count on the loyalty and good-will of the foreign residents with all the more sincerity that we have held aloof from passion or party, and congratulate the Republic on having elected one whose name has so long been associated with enlightenment and progress.

TWO IMPORTANT MISSIONS.

Among the passengers leaving by this packet for England are Mr. Eduardo Madero, one of the Bank directors, and Mr. Palemon Huergo, Managing director of the Western Railway: the first goes to open a credit in London for the Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres, the second is Government commissioner for obtaining a sum of £950,000 sterling on Debentures for the prolongation and proposed improvements of the Western Railway.

The two institutions are the most useful and prosperous in B. Ayres, and we may fairly predict the fullest success for the missions in hand. The commissioners, too, are gentlemen of high standing and long services, besides possessing the advantages of having for some time resided in England and become conversant with the language and business habits of the great money-lending nation of the 19th century. It may be apropos to give English people an idea of the history, growth and importance of the two institutions that now come under their consideration.

The Provincial Bank was founded in 1826, the Government devoting £600,000 sterling out of a loan raised in London to provide water works, drainage and a port for Buenos Ayres, and a further amount of £200,000 being subscribed in shares by Messrs. Brittain, Thwaites, Zimmermann, Alzaga, Riglos, Del Sar, Aguirre &c., who formed the first board of Directors. During the Brazilian war the paper-dollars fell to 16 pence and subsequently to 7¾ pence, the Bank having then 3 branches, at Salta, Tucuman and San Juan. In 1836 Rosas converted it into a paper mint, the dollar falling to 4 cents in 1846, and this has been its par value ever since, with certain fluctuations up to 1866, when Governor Alsina fixed the currency at 4 cents. On the fall of Rosas the Bank was remodelled by Dr. Sarsfield on its present footing, the Government appointing 6 foreign and 6 native Directors each year, and all the profits going to accumulating the Bank capital.

The growth of the Bank may be seen at a glance by comparing the returns of 1861 with those of 1868 and 1874, as follows:—

	1861.	1868.	1874.
Deposits...	2,641,399	4,916,277	7,101,767
Capital	37,445	1,740,330	3,007,759

We reduce the figures to £ sterling for easier comprehension.

The total deposits are really at present over 9 millions sterling, as we have omitted an item of £1,250,153 lying in the Bank for account of City Improvements, and a further sum of £620,000 for proceeds of Public Lands. There are over 17,000 depositors, mostly of the working-classes, especially Italians and Basques, besides Irish sheep-farmers, the average to each depositor being £100 sterling. The Bank-profits run over £100,000 a year, and the magnificent new Bank which cost £95,000 to build represented less than 3 months gains. The Bank has long been the sheet-anchor of Buenos Ayres, and we may say of the whole Republic, bearing the same ratio as the Bank of England in the influence exercised on the nation's commerce and finances. Its rate of interest is so low, seldom over 7 per cent and never 8 in the worst crisis, its system of renewing on 10 per cent redemption paid, its unshaken and incontrovertible solidity, as well as its serving as the great Savings-bank of B. Ayres, all contribute to give it a position and importance to which we have no parallel in our political or other public institutions. Its fiscal privileges, coming in before all other creditors, although odious in themselves tend to the stability of the Bank by preventing the possibility of alarm among the public. The system of management by 12 of the foremost foreign and native merchants is a guarantee against favoritism, as far as human institutions can aspire to perfection, and when we look back and compare the figures of 1861 with those of 1874 we cannot be astonished at the wonderful growth of an institution so wisely administered, so identified with the progress of our trade, and so worthy to compete with the greatest Banks of the age in the magnitude of its deposits.

Turn we now to the Western Railway, the first made in the River Plate and still the most important in its traffic, while being also managed with English punctuality, yielding 9 per cent net profits, and traversing the richest pastoral country in South America. It was commenced in 1857, and is now 145 miles long, representing an outlay of £1,225,000 sterling, but actually worth 1½ million sterling if we include the value of lands ceded to the line by the owners. The returns for 1873 show an increase of 50 per cent over the previous year in goods traffic, with the same number of miles open. The working expenses of the main line have been brought down to 56½ per cent of gross receipts, which shews the management is conducted with due economy; and the fact that only 2 passengers were killed out of a million, and 2 employees in running 28 million miles, is more satisfactory than people in England can generally boast of. As soon as the double line is made to Merlo junction and the extension carried out to Bragado, 30 miles further towards the Andes, we may look for a corresponding increase of traffic. Mr. Huergo says, "give me 100 more waggons, put down new rails on the Lobos line, and give me the other necessary improvements, and and then instead of 3,000 passengers and 700 tons of merchandize daily you will soon have double the returns." He is authorized by law to raise the sum of $4,700,000, say £950,000 sterling for the following purposes:—

I. Grand terminus at Plaza Once....	360,000
II. Extension Chivilcoy to Bragado..	230,000
III. Re-laying Lobos branch.....	136,000
IV. Double line to Moreno.....	112,000
V. Extension to Boca.....	76,000
VI. Additional workshops.....	21,000
	£935,000

It will take probably two years to carry out these works, and then the good results and development of traffic will doubtless induce the Government to undertake the extensions to Saladillo and Nueve de Julio, the estimates of which are respectively £400,000 and £276,000, as already decreed by the Chambers, but for which at present no funds are disposable.

We need not say that the good wishes of B. Ayres accompany Messrs. Madero and Huergo, two of our representative men, good samples of clear-headed Argentines, who have moreover enjoyed the advantages of long contact with business men in England.

REV. MR. GRENNAN'S DEPARTURE.

The Neva takes from us to-day a worthy Irish priest who for many years past officiated as chaplain in the district of Capilla del Señor. Like Goldsmith's village pastor "he was a man to all the country dear", quietly and unobtrusively filling his post in society, attending to the spiritual interests of his little flock, and keeping up that high character for integrity which the Irish priest has already earned at home and abroad. The subjoined farewell-letter speaks eloquently both for the pastor and his flock, whose mutual ties of affection are now severed by the declining health of the former. He takes with him not only the tearful regrets and warmest wishes of his parishioners, but also the kindly recollection of many who in the poet's words only knew him by a passing acquaintance—

"For a smile, or a grasp of the hand, hast'ning on,
"Is all we enjoy of each other in this."

We wish Father Grennan a pleasant voyage to his native country, and hope the invigorating breezes of the Slieve Bloom may bring back color to his cheek and strength to his frame. His letter is as follows:—

"Gentlemen:

"I beg to trespass on your space to return my thanks to the Irish people of Capilla del Señor and Zarate (over whom I have presided as chaplain during the last eight and a-half years,) for their liberal support, and ever kind attention to me as their priest.

"It has been a great pleasure to me during my time amongst these people to find them animated with the same lively sentiment of religion, and the same respect for their pastor, as is the custom in Ireland. They are progressing steadily, notwithstanding the many difficulties they encounter, and I cannot but attribute their success to the fact that religion and industry go hand-in-hand with them. I regret to leave where I have spent so many years of my missionary life, but ill health obliges me to return to Ireland, and probably not to come back again. I shall therefore always pray for the continued prosperity of the Irish people of Capilla del Señor and Zarate, and think on my years of labor amongst them as the happiest of my life.

"I beg to thank you, Messrs. Editors, for the many kind words you have said of me from time to time, and the good feeling you have always shown towards me. I wish and hope the STANDARD may always maintain its high social dignity and usefulness, as heretofore.

"I remain,
"Yours most sincerely,
"WILLIAM GRENNAN."

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 25th.

The question of disposing of our dead being the order of the day, it is not uninteresting to learn how Paris dealt with, and proposes to deal with it, for a new cemetery has been purchased for her wants. Now nothing is so singular in the character of Parisians as their contempt for the living and their reverence for the dead. They are the most sceptical and irrespective people in the world, having a disdain for all glories, an irony for all superiorities, a contempt for everything that is not its own. They hold neither to life nor the living; indifferent to their past which they know but ba[d] and little careful of the future they never foresee; their love yesterday become their hates to-[day] hands that threw Marat in[to] mon sewer were those that ha[ve] him to the Pantheon; they [are] stant as the wind and peril[ous] the sea; violent, ungrateful, faithful by turns, but in o[ne] they are immutable—that o[f] ing their cemeteries as holy pl[aces] in worshipping their dead [with] adoration of idolatry.

When a person dies in Pari[s] is announced to the family an[d] of the deceased by a circular l[etter] printing of which, in the [first] space of two hours, forms 50 [per] of the personal work of t[he] graphic printing offices. A[mong] Upper Ten the widow never [writes] letter; she retires to her a[partment] for 6 weeks; in less exalted c[ircles] widow ever announces the s[ad] not only in her own name, b[ut] ti[tles] of her children and the immed[iate] relatives. The practice was, according to M. du Camp, in former ti[mes] more simple; the town criers announced the deaths, where they took place, and when the funeral would set out. These men were clothed in long white capes with black notes of exclamation to represent tears, cross-bones and skulls; the children being frightened, and the dogs compelled to bark, the costume was abandoned, and the long black gowns of lawyers substituted. It was the custom for the clergy to recite prayers on horseback, along side the hearse, on its way to the cemetery, and the hearse itself was a huge Juggernaut-kind of car with curtains, behind which was the bier and workmen ready to repair a break down. These workmen passed their time "en route" playing thimble rig on the coffin, and drawing aside the curtain to make grimaces at the clergy. The poor were carried on porters' shoulders like a box, or on a 'brancard,' and the porters had the right to deposit their burden at the dram shop doors, while enjoying a drink. The burial of the dead in Paris is performed by a chartered company, that includes all interments under nine classes—everything supplied; the first costing over fr. 7,000, and the ninth, about fr. 19. The city pays the company fr. 5 per body interred, and out of receipts the company allocates 56 per cent of its profits to support the various religious recognised bylaw, or 1¾ millions of francs per annum. The company is also bound to bury gratuitously the indigent, which in 1873 amounted to 25,000 cases, against 19,000 nearly who payed. The rich thus bury the poor, and the dead defray the religious rites of the living. The company has in its employment 585 agents, 570 hearses and mourning coaches, and 270 horses, and supplies a master of ceremonies. It is the government furnishes the officer with the three-cornered hat; he takes charge of the body at its domicile; heads the procession through the streets, and retires only when the last spadeful of earth has been thrown into the grave. The mutes do not like to be called 'Croquemorts,' and they classify corpses as "salmons, herrings, and whitings," representing respectively the rich, the poor, and children. They are not sad employés, though silent; many are very gay, do duty in the pantomimes and chorus scenes of theatres, and some lead the dances in the public balls.

In Paris 24 hours must elapse before the defunct can be buried, and the funeral take place at the hour fixed by the authorities, and in the cemetery allocated to your ward, unless you have a family tomb elsewhere. The church of the Innocents, to-day co[n]-cupied by the central markets, was the Pere Lachaise of Paris in the Sixteenth century. Yet it was so full, that coffins had to wait their turn for a vacant spot, and the remains of children were packed like sardines. The portico of this church was devoted to selling toys, trimmings, and rags, and for a few sous one could write his letters. The place, as Voltaire remarked, has consecrated to the plague. The revolution of 1791 cleared away the danger, and Napoleon I. decreed the establishment of Perè Lachaise and other cemeteries. The poor have now a space to themselves in the free treach, or more indignantly known as the 'fosse commune,' and 63 per cent. of the interred claim the gratuitous grave. Spring is the best time to visit Perè Lachaise, when it is covered with violets and primroses, and the birds sing cheerfully, and so that one can, in the words of Luther, envy the dead, because they repose. The tomb of Heloise and Abeilard is most visited, especially by lovers and newly married people, who pay their tribute of admiration to sincere love; the authorities have had to enclose the Gothic structure with a railing to prevent visitors engraving their names thereon. Political tombs are forgotten according to the times; thus Lallemand, killed in 1820, has been eclipsed by the revolution of 1830; since that of 1848 Godefroy Cavaignac is overlooked, and Baudin has been forgotten since September 1870. The tomb erected to Lesurques, the hero of the 'Courrier de Lyon' is however remembered, for the benefit of juries, it not of judges. Perè Lachaise is now closed, but since its opening in 1804, till 1 January 1874, it has received 688,477 bodies. At the cemetery of Mont[martre] a grave marked with a [cross] no name, no date —t[he] would decline to grow [on] it— [the] tombs of [the] [ar]istic mi[nds] I[n] Th[e] p[lace]

[have] 'buried' a [few] remain to transact [pri]vate affairs. The latest [fash]ion incurring debts to be [paid] millions, has been wound up by the police, much to the astonishment of many. The bank's premises were fitted up regardless of expense, in the most important part of the city, and the [whole] site on being opened was found to contain exactly one franc and three sous! Directors feel insulted when cast into prison to explain how the money goes. One of the grand moguls of the bank, now the common topic of conversation as it had a political connection, that has failed, rather than permit himself to be searched according to custom, removed his clothes, threw them at the police, and borrowed a less decent suit.

INTERMENT OF PROTESTANTS.

To the Editors of the STANDARD.

Gentlemen,

In your issue of to-day (10th) an article appears which requires immediate correction, as in the manner it at present stands great grief would be caused to the friends of the deceased at home as well as here. In the 1st place the deceased was single and not married as stated. 2nd the body came by train no further than Merlo, and 3rd she was respectably interred in the Catholic Cemetery of Merlo, by many of her old companions and friends, and not buried in a ditch as you have been erroneously informed. In regard to the above, great blame is undoubtedly attached to the Railway Company in receiving the body at all, as according to their own confession, when called upon to explain the reason why the body was detained in Merlo, they said, a recent order had been issued by the Municipality, prohibiting the bringing of dead bodies by rail from the camp for burial in town. Why had their employees not been advised of this order? Had such been the case much unnecessary expense and annoyance would have been avoided by the friends of the deceased. When the waggon containing the body was hooked on to the train at Marcos Paz, the funeral party were told "pierden Vds. cuidado" the waggon will arrive without trouble in the Once, but what their surprise and annoyance, when on their arrival in town they found the body had been left in Merlo pending orders from head quarters in the Parque. There the traffic manager was called upon, who said that without an order from the Municipality (which he feared they would not give) the body could not be forwarded. The Municipality was called upon and every argument brought to bear on the case, such as: death was caused by no infectious disease, that deceased was a protest ant and that the friends wished to bury her in the English Cemetery, but all was ineffectual, she will require to be interred i n Merlo was the answer. Thus the whole party had to return to Merlo by the evening train, see the Juez, get from him get an order to the Cura who in turn had to ask permision from the Archbishop. This was granted at once, and next day the remains of the poor factory girl were committed to their kindred dust by her sorrowing companions and friends. Too much praise cannot be awarded to the authorities in Merlo for their attention and kindness shewn in the matter. Instead of the blame being charged to the Municipality, it rests with those who had the management of the funeral, who were ignorant of the municipal order, and the station master in Marcos Paz who was also ignorant of this order, but certainly ought to have been made aware of it.

I am, gentlemen,

Yours very truly,

J. M.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The result of the Presidential election was known yesterday, except from two provinces, Santiago and Salta, where the telegraph wires are cut. Dr. Avellaneda is the man, and we salute him as President elect. The returns as far as known are—

B. Ayres	53 votes for General Mitre.
Cordoba	26 votes for Dr. Avellaneda.
Mendoza	10 "
San Luis	10 "
Entre Rios	18 "
Santa Fe	12 "
Catamarca	12 "
Tucuman	12 "

and others making up a total of 130 votes for Dr. Avellaneda, or 15 over the legal majority required.

The Royal Mail Steamer Neva, Captain West, sails this afternoon for Europe with mails and passengers. The C hia closes for the reception of letters and newspapers at 11½ o'clock. Standard Office open in the morning for sale of Packet Editions. Messrs. Huergo and Madero leave at 1½ o'clock, and all town will be on the mole to see them off.

The great sensation of yesterday morning was the Bad Sovereign. Since the days of Fulton Mendez's Corkscrew we have not seen such prodigious excitement in Standard Court. Bank Directors, private bankers, merchants, barraqueros, brokers, lawyers, 'almaceneros,' and even 'estancieros,' came on us with a rush before we had well lighted our 'post almuerzo' cigar, all to see, feel, and hear the Sovereign. We had ening to the Pro- nd immediately sent a ge to Mr. Cuyar for it. man Bank and Policia meanwhile had sent to us for a short temporary loan of the coin, and the row was awful when our messenger returned with word that Mr. Arocena, President of the Bank, had it, but had not yet come to the Board Room. After a short interval we sent again to the Bank, and the coin was secured. The excitement grew red hot as it was held aloft. A ring was made in our back patio, round the stone on which is written "hic jacent the 70,000 ounces," and the Bad Sovereign was passed round. Awful laughter was excited by Mr. Brandt taking from his breeches' pocket as good a sovereign as ever was coined at the y—t, and insisting that it was a 'rap'; he however declared the sovereign to be extremely shady.

Mr. Gova—I would know it instanter by the touch, which says "touch me not," as plain as a forgery can speak.

Mr. Blumberg. The rim is rummy; of course it's bad.

Mr. Hicken (cashier German Bank). It's like news sometimes; it looks 'too good to be true,' and I don't like the sound of it.

Mr. C. Benn—It's scandalous.

Mr. Sala—(Provincial Bank) Her Majesty's head is defective.

A British Broker—What do you mean Sir?

Mr Sala—I mean, the forgery of the Queen's head is badly done.

The B B—Ah! So I thought. That's a very different thing.

Mr. Diaz (Provincial Bank)—It's a good coin; take it to the Oficina de Cambios and they'll give you paper money for it.

Mr. Cuyar (Secty P B)—This is an extremely serious business, as no white man can tell whether this coin is good or bad.

Mr. Leslie—Pshaw! The whole thing is absurd. It's a Standard lark.

(Loud shouts of Order! Chair! and 'pass it round!")

Mr. Grigg—Not so absurd as you think Mr. L, particularly if you had to receive, count, weigh and jingle a couple of thousand of them.

Mr. Urban Smith—How many of these rascally raps have come out?

A Voice, 70,000. (Horse laughter, sighs and groans.)

The Exchange Man (esquina Cangallo)—Give me the Sovereign; I'am off to weigh it. (Cries of 'No! No!' 'dont be in a hurry,' 'hold on' etc.)

Mr. Pallinini (Manager of Italian Bank)—This is a scandalous and dangerous business, and I understand a large quantity of false Spanish coins is also coming out.

Mr. Arocena (President Provincial Bank)—'Lark' or no 'lark,' this business will stop the export of gold.

Mr. Clarke (C W Benn & Co.)—I cannot see that it will have any such effect.

Mr Wilcken—Who came out in the packet?

Mr. Jose B Sala—This looks very like an electioneering trick.

Mr. Josling—Any bank cashier could detect the fraud.

Mr. Russell—I'd pick it as bad out of a specie box full.

Mr. Bullrich—What are auctioneers to do now?

Mr John Anthony Fernandez—After all, there is nothing like paper money.

Messrs. Leinau, Donnelly, De Mot, J. Rourke, Spears, C. Davis and many others said they were quite shocked at the depravity of the Age, and this wretched attempt.

Such were some of the numerous opinions expressed about this remarkable forgery. Our own is, that the imitation is wretched and would not deceive even a policeman, much less people accustomed to handle gold.

Mr. Daws, the librarian, favoured us yesterday with copies of the following magazines which he delivered to his subscribers early last week; we shall review them in a day or two:—'Once a Week,' 'All the Year Round,' 'Family Herald,' 'London Society,' 'Young Ladies' Journal,' 'Art Journal,' &c.

Except for the Sovereign rumpus in Standard Court yesterday the day was shockingly dull there and every place else. Weather detestably cold and raw, and the Mud market the only one displaying activity. No steamer from the Mount, but a small one from the Uruguay with a still smaller quantity of news. The Presidential Election was talked about, but the topic is now ineffably flat, stale and unprofitable.

There have been no electioneering telegrams from the Northern provinces as yet in consequence of two serious interruptions on the line. One of these was caused by a train on the Tucuman Railway carrying a high "casilla" on a truck, which tore down four posts and a mile of wire; the other, further North, was the effect of a forest fire which burned up the wooden posts along a considerable distance of the line. This shows how justly Mr. Inspector General Burton has always advised the use of iron instead of wooden posts, and what a pity it is his recommendation was not followed.

In reference to the recent burial of a Marcos Paz factory girl, about which a letter will be found in another column, we are informed that the manager of the factory did everything in his power to insure the decent interment of the poor girl. The Alcalde at Marcos Paz is to blame for the whole unpleasantness, as he informed the manager of the factory that, deceased being a Protestant, the body would have to be taken to Buenos Ayres if it was desired to inter it in a cemetery; hence the inconvenience that subsequently arose.

"A John Bull, conversing with an Indian, asked him if he knew that the sun never sets on the Queen's dominions. 'No,' said the Indian. 'Do you know the reason?' asked John. 'Because God is afraid to trust an Englishman in the dark,' was the dusky savage's reply.

Hurrah! Phillips will make his bow to the Buenos Ayres public on Friday next, for the first time in the character of a married man. He and his wife will certainly receive a sympathising and warm reception. The programme, in another column, is first rate, full of fun and novelty.

The gastronomical event of yesterday was the disappearance of the Rhine salmon for lunch in the well-known casino of our Teutonic subscriber Mr. Crammer. Such cramming we never before witnessed. We lunched off the fish, and must say the re was a delicious one, washed down with some very choice Rhine wine, of which Mr. C. has a supply. This enterprising caterer deserves the support of Britishers as well as his own countrymen, both good judges of what a salmon ought to be. One salmon is worth a 'vasura' cart full of 'pecarey,' 'dorado' and so forth.

An Italian softly jumped out of the train near Plaza Once the other day to recover his battered, old, Jim-crow hat, which flew out of a window. The result was a mud bath of alarming thickness. When he scraped himself he had time to sum up the profit and loss of his escapade, as the train left him behind, Debtor to 'cropper' and several bruises, suit of clothes spoiled, and ticket to Chivilcoy lost. C. Br. hat worth five paper dollars recovered. Jumping from a train in quest of a shockingly bad hat is, evidently, not a paying business.

There is very little news from Rosario. The general impression up there is, that there will be bad work again in Entre Rios before long. The Capital now publishes a weekly chess problem, with fac-simile of board etc., the same as the Illustrated London News. The same paper proposes the expropriation of the Central Argentine Railway. A tax of two per mil has been put on the value of the land held by the San Carlos colonists; this is the first tax ever put on a colony in this republic. The precedent is a bad one for immigration.

The Paraguayan Government has started a number of horse post couriers, which are served by women. They will do their work quite as well as lords of the creation, no doubt.

Pious and learned Cordoba has forbidden Sunday auctions, and the local 'rematadores' are extremely 'down in the mouth'. We'll send a paper with the news home to our friend Mr. Nicholas Lowe. The prodigious number of 13 European emigrants arrived and obtained employment last week.

The Customs officers made a stiff haul of contraband jewellery on Friday. One of the passengers landing from a European steamer was observed to have a paunch that would more than do honour to Sancho Panza, Count Fosco, the Claimant, or any other enormously fat man. The Customs men are suspicious, and they intimated their intention of seeing if the stomachic protuberance was really "too solid flesh", or composed of something liable to duty. The 'sujeto' protested violently, but his stomach was instantaneously ripped open, and out tumbled an enormous quantity of jewels; the stomach was false, but the jewels were real, and valuable too. The 'sujeto', who looked as lean as a lamp post when divested of his smuggling waist belt, was walked off to jail, and the jewels confiscated.

Mr. Chief of Police O'Gorman has ordered for publication a list of all the robberies committed in this city within the last two years. It is expected to be almost as long as Leporello's list of his rakish master's conquests, and to prove to demonstration that Buenos Ayres is the terrestrial paradise of thieves.

Sumptuous musical news. We hear on good authority that the empresarios of Colon have at last realized the fact that too much 'Ballo,' or Ernani, or Favorita, or even Lucia, 'ne vaut rien,' and have resolved to produce immediately the lovely sparkling 'Barber of Seville,' to be followed by 'the opera of operas,' the immortal Don Giovanni. This is superb news. We are anxious to see how Sr. Colonnese will interpret the devil-may-care, rollicking, scoffing, gentlemanly rake, who is said not to have had a perfect representative on the lyric stage since the days of the famous Tamburini; even Mario, when Sir Michael Costa profanely dared to transpose the music to suit him, failing to act the noble roué's role above mediocrity. Sr. C. will, doubtless, look and sing the part to perfection. The Colon empresarios deserve the public thanks if they really have the above mentioned treats in store for us.

ON 'CHANGE

June 13th, 1874.

Ounces	490

Nat. Bonds	75
Cedulas	79½

The Cedula market ruled weak durtng the day and rather firmer in the afternoon. The business done was not large, the total sales for the end of the month only reached 190.000. The King stood back to-day, and did nothing. The liquidation was small.

The sales to-day were—

Cedulas.

For cash	21,500	79½
do	2,000	79⅝
do	5,000	79⅝
do	2,000	79½
End of month	70,000	79½

do	10,000	79⅝
July 31	20,000	80
do	40,000	79⅝
do	40,000	80

National Bank shares fell off again to-day, and in fact were sold to-day lower than ever before 50 shares cash at 88½.

A very large sale of Roads and Bridges Stock was effected to day, 90,000 bonds at reserved terms—we believe, about 85.

In the liquidation prices ruled rather better—

For end month	100,000	79½
do	130,000	79⅝
For cash	5,000	79½
do	10,000	79⅝

It was announced on 'Change to-day at a late hour that the election for Congress Senator for Buenos Ayres had resulted in favor of Dr. Dardo Roach, the voting being—

Dardo Roach	28
Dr. Tejedor	22

Exchange was done very freely at 49d. One transaction was reported at 49⅝, payable on 2 th

Up to the latest moment it was impossible to find out what gold goes in the packet. All that has been engaged up to the present is £30,000 sterling.

The Rubens is expected up to-morrow, and the Galileo will be due here about the 18th inst.

Some parties hold news from the camp to-day. The storm last night was most severe, and has proved in some partidos very disastrous.

The false sovereign imposition is attracting immense attention; the counterfeit has now been shown to nearly all the banks. Mr. Maschewitz although suffering from a cold in one of his eyes, detected the imposture. On the Bolsa Messrs. Green, Wanklyn, Cook, Napp, Stock, Williamson, and White inspected the coin, and pronounced it about the best imitation they had seen. It is on exhibition at our office Mr. Garcia, of Mercantile Bank, took it out of a pile of 20 sovereigns with his eyes shut.

In the Boletin Oficial we note the Custom House summons Messrs. Woodgate Bros. for 6 pats. 21 c. unpaid duties, and Thomas and Co. 2.12c. for duties also, due over six years. Sharp affair this.

The foreclosure auction of property in Quilmes at the Mortgage Bank this afternoon, we believe, was postponed, as when we sent to the bank the door was closed.

The weather looks black enough for passengers sailing in the packet but if it allows the mails to go off, of course all right.

Mr. Fallenstein took leave of his numerous friends to-day. He leaves in the Neva for Europe.

There was much said on 'Change to-day about the new Bank project, which we adverted to a few days ago, and which few then seemed to know anything about; but there is now no doubt whatever about it, as the Tribuna of this morning published the proposed law, of which the following is an exact translation:—

Art. 1. No member of the Board of Directors of the Provincial Bank can, during his term of office, take or receive money from said Bank.

Art. 2. Neither can said Bank discount any bill endorsed, drawn, or accepted by any member of said board.

Art. 3. The fact of a party owing the Provincial Bank any sum disqualifies him for said post.

Art. 4. Al parties elected directors of the Provincial Bank shall, previous to taking office, pay off all indebtedness to other banks.

Art. 5. It is prohibited to give to any party a larger sum than 100,000 pats., even though secured by different signatures.

Art. 6. So also it is prohibited to accept in guarantee the name of anyone already indebted to the Bank to the amount of 100,000 pats.

Art. 7. All parties at present indebted to the Bank for a larger amount than 100,000 pats. shall, on the maturing of their bills, pay 20 per cent amortizat on.

Art. 1. The Board of Directors of the Mortgage Bank shall pass monthly to the Provincial Bank a list of the mortgages effected each month, giving the mortgagors, names and also a list of the mortgages redeemed each month.

Art. 2. The said Board shall further supply the Provincial Bank all other particulars that may be asked for.

These bills are introduced by Dr. Labitto, and sent by the Senate to Committee. It appears that they will be both passed.

The effect of this new measure, it is thought, will be to still further tighten the money market. The measure is considered a sound one, but the present about the very worst possible time to introduce it, and it is generally supposed that it is this very bill which has so turned the Cedula market within the last few days. As we have however already stated, there is a majority in the Chambers in favor of the measure; the Government is in favor of it, as also the Provincial Bank Board; therefore pass it will, and all the large debtors of the Bank will have to take up money in the open market next month—a difficult business enough. In the general interest of the market, it would be better to let the bill stand over for at least another year.

This was a day of general leave taking on 'Change. First came our esteemed friend Mr Edward Madero, than whom no man is more popular in this market; every one wished him success in his Provincial Bank mission; and a speedy return; next came Mr. Palemon Huergo, whose reputation as a railway manager stands second to none in Buenos Ayres; by his excellent and economic management he has raised the West ern Railway, to a 9½ per cent paying stock. On Mr. Huergo's heels came Mr. Runciman of the leading firm of Gilmour & Co; he leaves on a short trip to Europe; we all hope to see him back in November.

Owing to the storm last night we had no steamer from Montevideo this morning. A steamer from the Uruguay entered and the usual mail boat from Rosario; in the way of news nothing very particular was in from any quarter. The day was cold, bleak and cheerless, and save the politicians who were running about with country telegrams &c., the day was a dull one enough.

This was a heavy Saturday enough in exchange circles, and the payments were said to be very large, fully £7 0,000 stg. has been passed for the mail. In produce circles the payments were light and the barraque os' room on 'Change was almost empty up to 3 o'clock; what with the small stock of produce in the market, the broken weather during the week, and the tightness of money there has been very little doing in produce, nevertheless it is right to remark, that stringent as the money market is, barraqueros and brokers say that for regular legitimate produce business there is really no scarcity of money whatever. The collections through town to-day were spoken of on 'Change as very poor, the shopkeepers it seems although they sell freely have no money, and the almaceneros all complain that there is nothing coming in from the camp. Nor is it likely with the camp in its present state that much money will come in from there for several months. At all the banks there was a good cash movement, chiefly for exchange, the banks having taken largely during the week all they could get at 49½.

The payments for public works going on are now said to be very heavy, what with the new Carcel, the new Post office, the new Capitania and the new City Improvement Works, money is going very fast into the hands of the Italian labourers. The Provincial Government has ordered the Banks to pay to the water board for account of City Improvements, seven and a half millions currency; this of course is a mere flea bite, yet it is always something In the way of private buildings going on there is much less doing than in former years.

Messrs. Gandolfi Rossi and Co., comestible brokers, in their circular for the Nova give a very alarming picture of the state of the market. They say—"It looks now as if the Buenos Ayres market is about to suffer a general economic disaster for several months. We have been hinting at this; unfortunately to-day we acknowledge that our fears are but too well founded. The state of the market grows worse daily, the winter has come in with the very worst prospects, the state of the camp is simply deplorable, and business has assumed such a character as to indicate the catastrophe nearer at hand than we supposed. The best stock in the market, Cedulas, has fallen below 80, owing to the intensity of the crisis. The private banks either discount nothing, or at such rates as are ruinous. The Provincial Bank, the sole anchor of the market, uses every effort to avert a disaster. The National Bank, started by the commercial body, threatens to become a political institution, and if the most immediate measures are not taken to restore confidence, the market left to itself can have no other possible wind up than a general suspension of payments and a market bankruptcy.' This is a very severe picture of the market to send home to Europe, and we consider in some respect exaggerated; still, as this report goes home to Europe in three continental languages, it is just as well that it should also be put in English, so that our home readers should know the news from the Plate on the continent, by the Neva.

Messrs. Peters and Hall in their excellent circular for the packet give the following resumen:

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUA AND CO.
101--Calle Cangallo--103
BUENOS AYRES.

The advantages of Accounts Current are also generally felt and appreciated in the principal emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Maua & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Maua & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, offer the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositors a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interes will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Maua & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Maua & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P. P. MAUA & Co.,
M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM,
E. DE LAS CARRERAS.

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p. %) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wish can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
